medwise.ai

A search platform that provides you with seamless access to clinical knowledge and local best practice

The Challenge

Primary care clinicians are working in a time- and resource-constrained environment where seamless access to clinical knowledge is vital for upholding the highest standard of care.

New guidelines and pathways are published every day. Medical professionals struggle to stay up to date with the latest evidence and to find the answers they need during the limited amount of time they can spend with their patients.

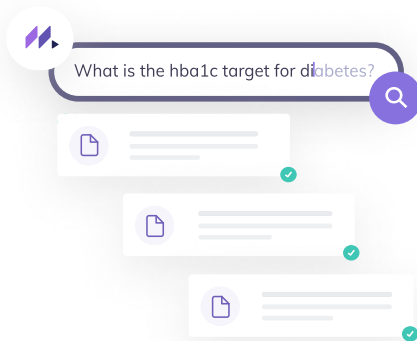

The Solution

Medwise.ai provides concise answers to your clinical questions at the point of care, saving you valuable time during each consultation and transforming the way you care for your patients.

Integrated care systems, health and care partnerships and PCN localities can customise medwise.ai to include local guidance, pathways and referral forms as well as information about local services and best-practice guidance tailored to your area.

Key Features

- Instant access to the latest national, local and society guidelines, pathways and policies
- Seamless search across information silos
- Your single source of truth for clinical information
- Messages and update notifications
- Access to personal search history and CPD notes
